NOW GLANDS ARE BLAMED FOR MURDER

Trial of Accused Boys in Franks Murder is Drawing Near End

Chicago, Aug. 9.—(By the Associated Press.)—Disordered endocrine glands were held responsible for the mental and physical development of Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., which permitted him to fall in with Richard Loeb's childish phantasy to commit the perfect crime resulting in the kidnapping and slaying of Robert Frank, Dr. H. S. Hulbert, Chicago, psychiatrist testified today in the hearing to fix their punishment.

Dr. Hulbert used x-ray pictures to show to Judge Caverly causes of the youth's mental and physical disorders on which the defense bases its plea for mitigation of punishment.

Leopold's thyroid gland had been diseased but the disorder has subsided and his pineal and pituitary glands have not functioned as they should, the doctor, fourth of the defense's experts to appear in the 16 days of session, testified.

In summing up he concluded that the boys, he having described Loeb's disorders yesterday, came together as necessary complements one of the other, that, Leopold unable to resist Loeb's leadership, their association led to the murder of Bobby Frank.

A half hour before court was to open at 10 a. m., the court room was filled and a line wound down stairs from the sixth floor and out on Austin avenue to Clark street, a block away.

Another alienist and Foreman Leopold and Allan Loeb, brothers of the young defendants, were on the list of defense witnesses yet to be called.

"King-Slave" Phantasy

Dr. Hulbert picked up his testimony where he left off yesterday with his description of Leopold's "king-slave" phantasy. Dr. Hulbert said the phantasy was continued until the age of 18, the phantasy setting the pattern of his life, Leopold's ambition coming to be the "perfect slave of the perfect king." Leopold found such a person in Loeb, said the witness, and wanted to be Loeb's "perfect slave in any manner, even though kidnapping and murder."

There were no criminalistic phantasies in Leopold's life, but his phantasy influenced him very largely to do what he has done, continued the doctor.

The testimony veered to Leopold's religious life, the witness saying that because of his advanced intellectual life, Leopold was ready for confirmation well before he was of age to be, and when he reached the age, he did not care to be confirmed.

Leopold once visited a church in which there was a stained glass window portraying the Madonna and child, said Dr. Hulbert. Leopold did not know the figures, but identified his mother with the Madonna, and himself with an older child in the picture, possibly St. John the Baptist, said the doctor.

Found Fault With God

"He does not say 'I am Christ,'" said the witness, but says 'I am the superior person of the world,'" read Dr. Hulbert in his notes.

"He finally found fault with God because God makes mistakes, making a great mistake when He took his mother."

"His mother's death made a great change in Leopold's life. He never did adjust himself to the world after she died."

"He finally saw life with no God, no good, no right, no wrong per se."

Leopold lacked close friends, said the doctor. "He felt his friends should fit in with his king-slave phantasy. He found they did not. He wanted to make friends, but found he could not. He made himself into a non-emotional, sheer intellectual personality."

Asked as to Leopold's criminalistic tendencies by Walter Bachrach of defense counsel, Dr. Hulbert said Leopold stole some stamps at the age of 8 from his cousin's; stole his brother's necktie and traded it for cigar bands, of which he was making a collection, justifying the theft by the statement, "why, that was all right, I wanted them." He also stole some trinkets from a stand.

Other petty thefts, the robbing of a University of Michigan fraternity house, and other misdemeanors previously rectified by other alienists were gone over by Dr. Hulbert.

"Indirectly he discussed the Franks' murder," said the doctor in reply to a question by Bachrach. "He said he could not have done it."

DOUBTFUL BONUS CLAIMS BEFORE ILLINOIS BOARD

Rapid Progress Being Made in Taking Care of Many Claims.

Springfield, Ills., Aug. 9.—With but 20,000 unchecked Illinois soldier bonus claims yet to be recorded and passed upon, the Service Recognition board has started on work of clearing up the several thousand "doubtful" claims which have been held over for investigation, according to Palmer D. Edmunds, chief clerk of the board.

An average of 50 applications a day continues to arrive at the board, and a marked increase is expected before the final date of filing applications, January 1, 1925.

Records show the filing of 278,143 claims to date. Out of this number 235,547 were approved and 1,793 were disapproved. The number of claims paid out totaled 235,549, an amount of $48,265,203.

The highest claim number paid, up to August 4, was 263,224.

However, this does not mean that all claims below this number have been cleared up, according to Mr. Edmunds. There are many claims which have been held up on account of insufficient material to warrant their endorsement. They will be taken up after the completion of work with the "clear" applications.

Many veterans see statements to the effect that claims far above their number have been granted, and they immediately conclude that their claim has been refused. "Mr. Edmunds said, 'This is not always the case. Now we have several thousand back claims, which are being investigated. These doubtful claims, involving a great amount of correspondence and controversy, make our work slower. The board at present is occupied mostly with these technical claims.'"

A few very veterans indicated preference for bonds, rather than the regular cash payment, the records show. Approximately $201,900 was paid in bonds, in contrast to the great amount in cash. More time is required to issue the bonds because of an accrued interest item. This is partly responsible for the small demand for bonds, Mr. Edmunds said.

His future plans were, he said he did not know what his exact plans were, but he preferred to settle down and get married. There was no chagrin or remorse over the murder."

Leopold said that he showed no fear of being hanged, saying death was the end of it all, and that if the family disliked the situation they should disown him, continued the doctor.

Leopold said at the time of the slaying of Bobby Frank he was up to the neck in the crime, the doctor quoted Leopold as saying.

The youth is annoyed by the interest of former associates in the homicide said the doctor.

"A desire on the part of Richard Loeb to commit the perfect crime, and a desire on his part to do whatever Loeb wanted him to do," was Leopold's motive for committing the crime, said the doctor in response to a question by Bachrach.

Ransom Played Part

"The $10,000 ransom demanded also played a part," said the witness. "Five thousand dollars is five thousand dollars, and we could use it," the doctor said Leopold remarked.

Leopold planned a trip abroad and did what he could to defer the murder, but was always willing to carry out the wishes of his king, said Dr. Hulbert.

As to his conclusions regarding Leopold, Dr. Hulbert said:

"I was impressed first with his intellectual development, that of a man of 30 years of age. He was extremely precocious. I then was struck with the disparity between his intellectual life and emotional life. I was greatly impressed with the vividness and duration of his phantasies and reveries and the effect of them on his personality."

"His sense of inferiority dates back to the physical inferiority of his frail childhood."

"His frail constitution colored his thoughts and actions. His indifference and lack of emotional feeling for crime, his lack of critique in being led into a crime in which he had no interest himself, suggests an abnormal mental state."

"His idea of his mother as the Madonna and himself as supreme and exempt from the laws of men are surprising in a person of his intellect and are a definite sign of disease."

It was understood the defense intended to complete its plea for mitigation of punishment Monday and the state indicated it would be through by Thursday, with arguments by counsel to require an unknown length of time, indicating the hearing possibly might be concluded by the end of next week.

LITTLE BOY FELL IN PATH OF AUTO

LAST EVE; KILLED

Sherwood Brooks, Aged 2, Victim Unavoidable Mishap Friday.

Sherwood Brooks, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Brooks residing on a farm near White Rock, was killed instantly Friday evening, when he was struck by an automobile driven by Tryon Rosbrook of The Bend. The accident, which was entirely unavoidable, happened only a few feet from the house occupied by the Brooks family. The child's neck was broken and the skull was fractured.

Mr. and Mrs. Rosbrook had driven east of White Rock to look after some cattle in one of their pastures and on their return, drove into the Brooks farm yard to pay a friendly visit to the family. The little fellow was in the yard carrying sticks from a tree which had been felled. In horror of automobiles, when the Rosbrook machine approached in the driveway, the little fellow, with sticks, in his arms started to run.

It is thought that the child tripped over a long stick which he was carrying and fell into one of the ruts in the roadway, directly in the path of the machine. The wheels or car did not pass over the body, but the force of the impact caused instant death.

The body was taken to the Preston mortuary last evening and Coroner Samuel J. Whetston arrived this morning to conduct an inquest over the remains.

A jury composed of James Buckley, foreman, Thomas Geiger, Frank L. Young, J. C. Williams, Charles Flein and F. L. Swanson heard the testimony of three witnesses to the accident and returned a verdict finding that death was accidental. The inquest was conducted this morning at 10 o'clock at the Preston mortuary.

Funeral services which will be private, will be conducted from the Preston chapel Monday morning at 10 o'clock with interment in Oakwood.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Brooks and three small brothers survive the child.

GRAIN SPROUTS IN SHOCK FOLLOWING RAINS

Inferior Grain Likely for Local Farmers Predicted Now.

The heavy rains of the past few days have started the wheat sprouting in fields near Nelson, according to reports from that territory. It will take only a little more damp weather to start shocks all around here as the warm weather coupled with the rain make the conditions just right for grain to sprout in the shock.

There has been practically no threshing since Monday and it will be another two days at least before the grain will be in condition to go through the separators. While the corn has grown visibly an dime ears are swelling rapidly these days, the small grain will have to be pulled out of the west before a great while or it will make an inferior grade and bring a lower price.

Grain in the stack would keep dry even in such weather as this, but the stacking of wheat and oats has become almost a lost art in this part of the country. In the days when one threshing machine did the work of the whole township stacking was a common practice, but since the machines have become a neighborhood proposition, and long waits are not necessary, grain is left shocked in the fields, and the shocks let in the sunshine and the rain like the roof of the little old log cabin in the lane. A few farmers cover the shocks with tarpaulin, but this takes a lot of material and not many have the drygoods to spare at the present price per yard. What they want is dry a dry spell long enough to get the crop through the separators and into the bins.

Equipment at Lowell Threatened By River

The rapid rise in the stage of water in Rock river has threatened to carry out the bathing beach equipment at Lowell park and yesterday park employees worked for some time trying to save the pier and other equipment. Barrels filled with water were placed on the pier to save it from being carried out and other equipment was fastened with ropes and cables.

The river had dropped only slightly this morning and no further reports of storm damage in this vicinity had been received.

SUPPLY SHIP, ICE-BOUND, IS DRIFTING AFAR

Is 65 Miles South of Next Stop of World Fight Aviators.

Reykjavik, Iceland, Aug. 8.—By the Associated Press.—Lieut. L. H. Smith, commander of the American army round the world fliers, will not listen to any plan for abandoning the remainder of the flight because of unusually bad ice conditions along the east coast of Greenland. Lieut. Smith apparently is worrying about the ice difficulties but rather than abandon the flight at this stage, he asserts that he would prefer to go directly to the west coast of Greenland. Reports from the east coast indicate that the ice continued to present serious obstacles and that under present conditions a landing at any place on the coast would be impossible.

The airmen said this morning that the trip to Iceland was a mere game compared with the flight from Alaska to the Kurile Islands.

REHABILITATION OF STORM AREAS HAS BEEN BEGUN

Death List in Wisconsin Stands at Six; Farms Ruined.

By Associated Press Leased Wire Eau Claire, Wis., Aug. 9.—Rehabilitation of the area struck by two tornadoes in central Wisconsin Thursday night, were under way today, and farmers were clearing up damaged property.

On some farms hit by the storms, farmers made efforts to salvage portions of their crops not destroyed. It was estimated at least three-fourths of the crops on the farms affected by the twister is totally ruined.

In the New Auburn district where one of the tornadoes took four lives, totally destroyed three farms and did severe damage to 21 others, farmers declared that they carried little or no tornado insurance. Victims of the storm in the Black River Falls section, where two persons were killed and many farms damaged, were said to be in a similar predicament.

At Bloomer where a large cannery factory was wrecked, work on rebuilding was begun today.

Roads were cleared of their debris and travel was open on them today.

The death toll stood today at six for the New Auburn and Black River Falls tornado-stricken areas.

Edith Cummings Wins.

By Associated Press Leased Wire Chicago, Aug. 9.—Edith Cummings of Chicago, national champion, today defeated Mrs. Lee Mida of Chicago 3 and 2 and won the right to contest the western championship with Miriam Burns of Kansas City who also won 3 and 2, over Dorothy Klotz of Chicago by shooting the best golf thus far displayed in the tournament.

Miss Burns set the gallery on edge by scoring a 37 for the first 9 and bettering women's par by six strokes. Even the score which included four birdies and an eagle netted her a lead of only 3 up at the turn for Miss Klotz played well enough to defeat any ordinary game, being one under par with three birdies for the first nine herself.

THREE COUNTIES
IN BIG PICNIC

Seventh Annual Picnic of Association Was Great Success.

The seventh annual picnic and outing for members of the Tri-County Druggists Association and their families was held at Lowell park, Thursday. While the attendance was probably not as large as some of the former events, the spirit which was prevalent has not been equalled in the history of the association. Druggists and their families from Lee, Ogle and Whiteside counties were present together with representatives from several of the large wholesale drug firms. Prof. and Mrs. W. B. Day of Chicago, the former being dean of the Illinois college of pharmacy were guests of honor.

Wholesale drug companies and accessory houses sent some beautiful prizes, which were contested for in a program of athletics and stunts. Mesdames Paul Boyd and Fitzgerald of Morrison were winners of beautiful large thermos bottles. Mrs. Daggett of Rock Falls was awarded a handsome toilet set; Mrs. George Campbell of this city, a complete flannelette set; Mrs. Mercer of Oregon, a Narcissus set; Mrs. Parker of Rochelle an atomizer set and Miss Charlotte Campbell of Dixon a Duo-Eld pen set. There were scores of other prizes which were distributed to winners of contests.

The scramble dinner was the feature of the day. In past years, each family has brought their basket picnic dinners, but this season, delicious baked ham was served to all present and in no stinted helpings. The success of the picnic this year was due entirely to the untiring efforts of George Campbell and A. A. Rowland, president and secretary respectively of the organization, who had the plans for the picnic in charge.

The druggists discussed the proposition of holding the 1925 picnic at the new Lawrence park at Sterling, but no definite action was taken as it was reported that the park site would probably not be ready for a picnic of this size next year. However, the druggists were favorable to holding the 1926 outing on the Lawrence island, providing that the improvements as outlined have been made.

Funeral of Peoria
Publisher Monday

By Associated Press Leased Wire Peoria, Ill., Aug. 9.—Tentative plans for the funeral of Henry M. Pindell, editor and owner of the Peoria Transcript and Journal, who died in his summer home in Northport Point, Mich., at 7 o'clock Friday night, provides for services at the home here Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The body will arrive some time Sunday.

Death came to Mr. Pindell at 7 o'clock Friday, following an illness of but a few hours.

Mr. Pindell, following an attack of heart trouble which came as a direct result of a hurried visit to New York in the interest of Peoria's retention of the C. & St. L. Railway, had not been in his usual health prior to his accustomed departure for his summer home in the north.

TWO MEN INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

EAST OF THE CITY

Car Turned Over Into a Ditch; Both Taken to Dixon Hospital.

Frank Holly, 3502 Artesian avenue, Chicago, and Carl Long of Sterling were taken to the Dixon public hospital shortly after 4 o'clock this morning by tourists who picked them up on the Lincoln Highway about four miles east of town, where a Ford touring car owned and driven by Holly had turned over, both men being cut with glass.

Holly had several stitches taken in his right hand which was badly lacerated and was able to leave the hospital shortly after receiving medical aid. Long sustained a deep cut in the left groin, which required several stitches to close and he is still in the hospital.

Mr. Holly left Chicago about 12 o'clock last night to drive to Dixon and, according to his version of the affair, near the scene of the accident, another car, going east on the highway failed to use dim lights. Holly applied the brakes and the car swerved on the slippery asphalt and turned over in the ditch on the south side of the road.

The other car did not stop and the two injured men crawled out of the wreckage, hauled the first car headed for Dixon and were taken to the hospital. The wrecked car was the object of attack of a party of tourists shortly after the accident and was completely stripped. Articles of clothing belonging to the injured men were taken and the car stripped of various parts. What remained of the wreck was towed to a garage here this morning.

Today's Market Report

Wheat Market Fell Off

at Opening: Corn Firm
Chicago, Aug. 9.—With reports at Canada and the North Dakota crop Canada had the wheat market average lower in price today during early dealings. The fact however that August 10 is a danger date for frost in Canada tended to induce considerable buying.
Opening prices which ranged from 1/2c lower to 1/4c advance Sept. 1.25@1.29 and Dec. 1.32@1.33 1/2 were followed by slight gains all around and then by numerous fluctuations, mostly below yesterday's finish.
Corn was firmer owing to widespread stormy weather. After opening unchanged to 1/4c higher, Dec. 1.05 1/2, corn made a moderate general advance.
Oats started 1/2 to 1/4c up, Sept. 49 1/2@50 1/2 and latter continued to ascend. Provisions were steady.
Subsequently the wheat market was depressed by prospects of a liberal increase of the visible supply to total on Monday, owing to very large accumulations at winter wheat terminals. The close was unsettled, 1/4c to 1/2c net lower, Sept. 1.28 1/2@ and Dec. 1.32 1/2@.

Corn was enlarged when prices sagged. The close was steady at the same as yesterday's finish to 1/4c higher, Dec. 1.04 1/2@1.05.

Weekly Grain Review.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, Aug. 9.—Corn has furnished the surprise of the week in the grain trade. With government figures pointing to 40,000,000 bushels less production of corn in the United States this year than the average of private estimates of late had indicated, the corn market has continued its record breaking advance in the face of setbacks for wheat. Compared with a week ago, corn prices this morning were 2 1/2c to 3 1/2c higher, with wheat 1 1/2c to 1 3/4c down, oats 1/2c up, and provisions showing 1 1/2 to 2 1/2c gain.
It has been assumed in many quarters that with better weather the improvement of the corn crop condition during July was so pronounced as to imply fully 120,000,000 bushels increased yield over the total which at the beginning of July was looked for. Nevertheless, demand for corn appeared at times to be unobtainable and the market to 1 1/2c a bushel above last week's low point.
Announcement from Washington that the condition of the corn crop is the lowest since 1911 land relatively worse instead of better than a month ago, led to a sharp new upturn in the price of corn as the week drew to a close. Rains delaying the oats harvest gave strength to the oats market, despite government figures showing that the probable yield of oats had been much increased.
Wheat went down owing to interpretation of the favorable showing of the government report of a big domestic crop of wheat.
Provisions derived their strength chiefly from the action of the sheep market.

Crowley said the single brewery he still owns in Joliet would be sold as soon as he found a purchaser.

SUNDAY TO END ANNUAL SESSION DIXON ASSEMBLY

present at the Washington conference for the limitation of armament at the request of the United States government for the purpose of interpreting the Japanese thoughts and ideas to the nations that spoke a different language and were of a different race.

In the course of his two talks he made a strong appeal to the American sense of justice and fair play. He also appealed for an application of Christian ideals in our relations with other nations.

Tragedies in Japan.
He spoke of the two tragedies that happened to Japan recently. The first was the great earthquake which made one million seven hundred thousand homeless and took a toll of three hundred and thirty thousand human lives. The Christian church suffered along with the entire nation. In the Tokio-Yokohama district, which is the very key to the Christianization of Japan, seventy six churches were destroyed and thirty three probably damaged beyond repair. From September to March there were over five thousand separate earthquake shocks so that people lived in terror all during that time.

Remarking about the spirit of all the people during that great catastrophe, Dr. Axley said, "The one conviction that gripped my soul was that these people are my peers and during those eight months of the earthquake they gave me a new vision of the sublime spirit that is in their heart. I care not what race or language they speak." He raised his voice in protest against the consciousness of the rising tide of color which consciousness is unchristian.

The other tragedy in the life of Japan was the passage of the exclusion clause in our immigration bill. He said he came to the United States to reveal to the American people Japan's breaking heart when she thinks of the way in which her friend of seventy years have treated her.

Is Second Insult.
Twice she has been insulted in her history. The first time was in 1895 when the combined forces of Germany, France and Russia compelled her to return Port Arthur after she had won it. She could expect this from those nations which she knew to be unprincipled, but now the insult comes from her friend America which nation is supposed to be motivated by the highest Christian ideals.

Dr. Axley pointed out that it was not a question of immigration but a question of cultivating peace and good will with the nations of the orient, of which Japan is the key nation. Had the 1890 quote been applied to the Japanese, only 146 a year could have gotten admission to the United States which number is too negligible to consider as against the good will of the millions in the land of Japan. If we continue in our present program of racial discrimination we will force the world into two camps divided according to color and then all the work which has been accomplished for peace will be undone.

Appeals for Good Will.
He expressed the regret that the spirit of brotherhood no longer rules in the mind of America and in the politicians of this nation. His mission as given him by the Federal Council of Churches is to arouse the sentiment of the Americans through out the land to right the wrong that has been done in so thoughtless a manner. He concluded by appealing for the spirit of Christian Brotherhood to rule the world. It is the question whether Christ of color shall rule and whether Christ or Johnson shall fashion the policies of our nation with the nation which holds the key to the orient.

Dr. Axley was very favorably received and left an indelible impression upon those who heard him. He was a finished speaker with a burning message which combination is bound to make an impression.

Camp Notes
Interesting discoveries are being made in camp. Miss Alice Hersch is very happy to discover that Miss Florence Clippinger of Dayton, Ohio who is on the faculty of the school is her second cousin. No one can say now that Miss Hersch didn't learn anything at the school. She is to be congratulated.

Mrs. W. E. Acker, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Herach and daughter Elizabeth, and Miss Nellie Newcomer, all of Polo spent the day at the Assembly attending the classes of the school of missions.

Dr. George Belswanger of Monroe Wisconsin had such an enjoyable time on his visit to the assembly last week that he motored down yesterday and brought his wife and children along with him to spend the day.

Preacher Lost His Book: Now Life's Empty Dream

Rev. Prentiss Hovey Case, popular pastor of the Presbyterian church, has been pestering the lives out of about ninety percent of his many friends looking for his kodak album. Early in the spring he took the book under his arm and started out to show his friends something of his life in the wild and woolly west. Now he can't find that book, and life for him is desolate. His oatmeal doesn't taste good and he's pining away dreadfully. He's been taught "Seek and ye shall find," so he keeps on seeking—but if the one who has that book will return it at once he'll do the parson a real good turn—and likewise his many friends whom he is asking daily "have you seen my book?"

Druggist Came to Picnic Despite His Auto Mishap
Paul Boyd, of Morrison, had a narrow escape from serious injury while on his way to attend the Tri-County druggist picnic at Lowell park Thursday. He and his family had reached a point on the Lincoln Highway a few miles this side of Morrison when a Ford car was driven onto the highway ahead of them and stopped. To avoid hitting the Ford, Mr. Boyd swerved to one side, struck a culvert and went into the ditch.
He was bumped on the head rather painfully by striking the wheel and the ladies in the rear seat were thrown to the bottom of the car and slightly bruised. They decided not to let the accident spoil their day, so they secured another car and went to the picnic just the same.

Patient Dropped Dead in Freeport Doctor's Office
Freeport—John Wagner, 68, a life long resident of Stephenson county, dropped dead in the office of Dr. J. N. Daly at 1:30 o'clock Thursday. Death was due to a heart attack according to the physician.
Wagner came from his home in Orangeville this morning to consult the local physician relative to his condition. Members of his family said this afternoon that he was in good spirits and apparently feeling as well at the time he left home as he had in several weeks.
Arriving in the consultation room, Wagner sat down in a chair and when the physician was about to apply the stethoscope the patient collapsed and died instantly.

LIFE—
We are born; we laugh; we weep;
We love; we drop; we die!
Ah! wherefore do we laugh or weep?
Why do we live or die?
Who knows that secret deep?
Alas, not I!

Why doth the violet spring
Unseen by human eye?
Why do the radiant seasons bring
Ewe thoughts that quickly fly,
Why do our fond hearts cling
To things that die?

We toil—through pain and wrong,
We fight—and fly;
We love; we lose; and then, ere long,
Stone-dead we lie.
O, life! all thy song
"Endure and—die!"

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bloyer, 460 West Douglas street. When notified of their son's marriage the Bloyers were much surprised, saying the young man is under age, being but 19, instead of 22, as given in the marriage license. —Freeport Journal Standard.

Coolidge Decided He'll Take Short Vacation Soon
By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Aug. 9.—President Coolidge will leave the capital for a brief vacation soon after his formal acceptance of the republican presidential nomination here Thursday night, visiting his father at Plymouth, Vt., for ten or twelve days, with Mrs. Coolidge and their son, John. In view of his absence, party managers are expected to await the moves of opposing candidates before deciding definitely on their program for the national campaign.

Decision to leave Washington for a while was reached yesterday by Mr. Coolidge after a conference with Chairman Butler of the republican national committee. Satisfied with reports, the President yielded to the urging of friends to take a few days away from the duties which have kept him almost constantly at his desk since he entered a year ago.

Mr. Butler said the president that visits with party leaders throughout the midwest and east had shown Mr. Coolidge's candidacy increasing in favor.

Interalled Debts to be Subject of Another Parley
By Associated Press Leased Wire
London, Aug. 9.—A conference on the question of inter-related debts will be held in the near future, it has been definitely decided, Premier Herriot of France announced today just before he left for Paris for a conference with his cabinet on the work of the international conference.

The French delegates had been working persistently to bring about such an interrelated debt discussion since the present conference opened. It is understood that it had not yet been decided whether the new conference will be held in Paris or London.

It was emphasized, however, that the United States representatives were not parties to the decision to hold the debt parleys.

Millions of Landlocked Fish to be Rescued Soon
Springfield, Ill., Aug. 9.—Millions of fish, landlocked in ponds and sloughs along Illinois waterways, will be rescued in the next few months by federal and state game crews, according to William J. Stratton, chief state game warden.

Approximately 50 men working in five man crews will be employed this year. Several crews are already at work, but the rainy springs has delayed operations. Ponds that are usually dry by this time of the year are still well filled and the crews are waiting for August sunshine to get to their work.

The fish are taken from the ponds, after the water remaining in the pond has been drained, and placed in larger bodies of water. Millions of fish die annually in landlocked ponds, before rescue work was taken up last year by the state and federal governments.

Many of the fish caught in such ponds were used commercially. This was contrary to state law.

Powerful motor boats are now supplied to state wardens, in which they are able to patrol the water in their territory and keep a careful watch on all their charges.

When ponds, filled by the spring overflow, begin to dry up and there is danger that the fish in them will die, the rescue crews are immediately put to work transferring the fish to safer quarters.

LEADERS KEEPING NECK TO NECK IN AMERICANS' RACE

Yankees Continue Out Ahead with Margin of One Battle.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
So far as ground gaining ability goes entries in the American League derby are almost as helpless as merry-go-round horses. Although Detroit increased its chances of overtaking New York by winning, while the Yankees were losing, the world champions today still head the procession by one game. Washington marked time in third place during a rain storm and St. Louis continued in the grip of its form reversal dropping a third straight contest to the last place Athletics.

Five home runs featured the game between New York and Cleveland, the latter winning, 10-8. Ruth, who banged out his 37th and 38th circuits, was the headliner in the home run side show. The other stars were Schang, Jameson and Myatt.

Burying three Boston pitchers under an avalanche of hits, Detroit romped off with a 14 to 6 win.

Browns Drop Third
For the simple reason that Manager Sisler was unable to find one pitcher in five capable of putting the quietus on Philadelphia, batters, the Athletics took the third game of the series by a score of 9-5.

The Giants lead their league by nine games and a half. Cincinnati, after piling up six consecutive triumphs, met Pittsburgh's fate in stubbing its toe at the Polo Grounds. The Reds' fall was reassured by a score of 8-3.

One of the tightest pitching duels of the season was decided in favor of Pittsburgh by Pie Traynor's home run for a 1-0 victory over Philadelphia.

Ragged support counteracted fair twirling by Barnes and gave Chicago an easy 10-7 decision over Boston.

The Brooklyn Robins were so prodigal of a nine run lead that they were fortunate to defeat St. Louis by 11 to 9. Bottomley hammered out two homers and Jake Fournier chalked up his 23rd of the season.

Aura Boxing Show is Postponed Till Monday

The day was dark and gloomy yesterday, but no darker or gloomier than a huge mob of fistic fans who anticipated a swell evening's entertainment at Aurora. Pete Sarmento, the Filipino, and Bud Taylor, who were all set to provide said entertainment with a ten-round socking party, were annoyed when promoter Jim Mullen broadcast the news that the show had been postponed until next Monday night.

Mullen, however, wasn't as gloomy as the fans, for he believes that the postponement due to the energetic efforts of Mr. Jap Fluvius will work out beneficially, giving more time for the boxing followers to drop in the clinkers for the pastebords.

When the decision was reached early in the day to call off the show tonight, both Sarmento and Taylor and the other fellows who are listed for bouts resumed training, as they'll take another stiff workout tomorrow which should hold them on edge for the big business Monday evening.

Pete carried around a bit of grouch while working yesterday. He said he wanted to face Mr. Taylor last night and that he had the pep and was fit to travel at his best speed.

Feed Big Lumps into this Double Feed Door

This big, high, wide DOUBLE Feed Door is one of the greatest conveniences ever built into a furnace.

Just ask the man who owns an ordinary furnace with a common SINGLE feed door.

He can tell you the inconvenience of sawing or chopping up his wood into small pieces, or breaking coal small enough to use.

He will tell you it takes less fuel when you feed larger pieces. The large, single piece holds fire longer than if broken up into small pieces.

The DOUBLE door costs more to manufacture—that's why most furnaces don't have it. But we know it means a real convenience and fuel saving—so every COLONIAL has it.

The lower COLONIAL door is as large as the single door on common furnaces and is used for usual firing. For big lumps or logs, open up both doors.

WAR ALWAYS THE SAME.

Four hundred years ago Erasmus wrote a letter on the folly of war and political strife which with very slight alterations (democratic titles being substituted for "princes" and "patriotic soldiers" being put in the place of "hirelings") might be mistaken today for a contemporaneous "letter to the editor." It shows us that the change wrought by time is slight and that the world of today is little altered from that of the day of Erasmus:

"I often wonder what it is that urges, I will not say Christians, but men, to such a pitch of madness that they will make every effort, incur any expense and meet the greatest dangers, for their mutual destruction. For what else are we doing all our lives but waging war? We are worse than the dumb animals, for among them it is only the wild beasts that wage war, and even they do not fight among themselves, but with beasts of a different species, and that with the weapons with which nature has furnished them; not as we do, with machines invented by the art of the devil, nor for all manner of causes, but either in the defense of their young or for food.

"Can we think anything in this world of such value that it should provoke us to war?—a thing so ruinous, so hateful, that even when it is most just, no truly good man can approve of it. . . . Add to this the crimes which are committed under the pretext of war, since 'amid the din of arms good laws are silent'—how many robberies, sacrileges, rapes and other disgraceful deeds such as are ashamed even to mention. This corruption of morals must needs last for many years, even after the war is over. Then think of the expense, so that even if you conquer you still lose far more than you gain—what kingdom indeed could you put against the life and blood of so many thousand human beings? . . . What do you suppose the Turks will think of us when they hear of Christian princes falling out so furiously with one another, and that for a title to empire? Italy is now delivered from the French. What has been accomplished by so much bloodshed, except that where the Gaul ruled before some other else rules now? The country, too, was more flourishing before than it is now. But will not go more deeply into these matters. . . ."

How similar are the questions which the civilized world has been asking itself since the World War, to those asked in this letter from Erasmus.

FARM RELIEF AND RAIN.

One reason for agricultural distress and crop failures in the northwest is found in the average rainfall. In that section which includes the western two-thirds of the Dakotas and that part of Montana east of the Rockies, the average annual rainfall varies from 20 inches at the east to 10 inches at the west. At least 20 inches is required to produce normal farm crops. Now an "average" rainfall does not happen every year. Some years it is exceeded, others it is not reached. In such years crops fail, and if several such years occur in succession disaster is sure to follow. In 1915 and 1916 nature was kind to that section and there was abundant rainfall. Economic conditions likewise were kind, temporarily, and the people of the region thrived. In 1917, 1918 and 1919 there was inadequate rainfall and crop failure, preparing the way for financial failure.

The farmer who laid by some of his profits of war years has weathered these distressful lean years, while his brothers who bought more farm land at inflated prices are suffering. They will suffer regardless of price adjustments or government aid. Financial relief can never take the place of needed rainfall and so will never solve the whole problem of the northwest.

The advance in the price of wheat is of importance from several viewpoints. In the first place it gives the farmers more for his product. Secondly it proves that lack of legislation was not the cause of the low price of wheat. Thirdly it proves that failure to join the league of nations was not the cause of the low price. Fourthly, it proves that the price of wheat is determined chiefly by the apparent supply and demand.

RED-LETTER SEPTEMBER 12.

Those who protest against Defense day, September 12, are really advocating a repetition of the distressing condition in which the country found itself when war was declared in 1917. The party in power had thought it proper to conduct its 1916 campaign on the slogan, "He kept us out of war." As a result of that misguided stand the nation was utterly unprepared for the tremendous effort that lay before it. The unpreparedness cost the country billions of dollars and took toll of hundreds of lives which ordinary foresight would have spared. However much pacifists may abhor war they can not put a sudden end to it, and future years are likely to see similar conditions confronting us as we had to face in 1917. Defense day is in anticipation of that contingency. There is no more humane policy of government that adequate preparedness, and what is proposed for September 12 is merely a development of that policy.

PRIVATE AID.

Secretary Hughes made it plain to his British audience that there will be ample aid from this side of the Atlantic to help Europe solve her problems, but that aid will come from Americans and not from America. There is a vast difference in the two propositions. The American government will not be encumbered with old world responsibilities, but the government will look with approval on efforts by American citizens to be of assistance.

"Do seals live in the north?" asked Nick.

"I should say so," said Weeny. "On icebergs or some place like that."

"Then let's go there," said Nancy. "That would be a lot of fun."

So Weeny fixed the things in his satchel and Nancy and Nick got up on his back and away they went toward the cold, cold north.

After while they came to a place where there was a lot of ice, and sure enough there was a little house with a sign on it which said, "Mister and Mrs. Seal—Their House."

So Weeny stopped and rang the door bell with his trunk.

Mrs. Seal opened the door with one of her flippers and looked out.

"Why, how do 'y' do?" she said pleasantly. "If it isn't Weeny, the old circus elephant! Come here, Solomon, and say how do 'y' do to the company."

Out came Mister Seal at that and said how nice it was to meet an old friend 'n' everything, and then he said how do 'y' do to the Twins, and everybody was happy.

"We've come to spend part of our vacation if it's all the same to you," said Weeny.

"Sure, come right in," said Mrs. Seal hospitably.

Weeny looked at the tiny doorway and shook his head. "I guess I'll stay outside if you don't mind," he said, "but Nancy and Nick may go in if they wish. I'll go and take a snooze as I've come pretty far and I'm pretty tired."

All right, said Mrs. Seal. "Come right in, children, and I'll show you."

"We're sorry but we can't stay a week, or even for lunch," said Nancy. "Goodbye, Mister and Mrs. Seal. Nick, bring the satchel and we'll follow poor Weeny on his travels."

George Bates and daughter have returned to Franklin Grove after a visit at the home of Sheriff C. W. Wohnke.

This afternoon a deed was filed which conveyed to the Water company from W. W. Hutchinson a triangular piece of land on Peoria avenue and Eleventh street on which the company will immediately erect a large iron water tank.

Miss Jessie Verna Floto, 26 years old, died at her home east of the Kingdom last evening at 9 o'clock.

LETTER FROM SALLY AHERN TO BEATRICE SUMMERS, CONTINUED.

But there's some more mixup about it that I don't just understand, and his highness, Gentleman Jack, imagines he has been very much abused. He's such a boy, Bee, that I can't help liking him, although all the while I feel like boxing his ears. He ought to have a woman like me to tell him where he would get off. I rather imagine that friend of his, who was here at the wedding, Sydney Carton, does this very often.

By the way, Mr. Sydney didn't care for me a bit. He seemed to feel that I was bawling poor little Jackie boy. Oh, well, one more person who doesn't care for me doesn't matter much. I presume I am a woman with the greatest number of haters in her train that any one knows, and I rather like them. They amuse me.

Yesterday at luncheon I went to a rather smart place that is much patronized by society women. As usual, I got a table that was right in the middle of a lot of cacklers. They, one and all, were talking about Mr. Prescott and his going on with that moving picture actress, Paula Perler. It seems he had had some sort of affair with her before he was married, and they seemed to think it was perfectly terrible that he should stay here and escort Paula Perler at your wedding when his wife had gone to her sick father.

Of course, I being one of that kind of people who never think like anyone else, was rather tickled at the whole affair. I could just understand how that pretty little French woman enjoyed coming back here where it seem she had been pilloried by all the society women in town, and politely, although meta phorically, telling them to go to.

I don't think it would hurt Leslie very much. She has a sense of humor. Between you and me, I imagine that she and Mr. Prescott have had a row, and that her father's illness came as a providential interruption to what might have been a quite serious quarrel. As it is, I am sure they have not made up, for Mr. Prescott has not dictated any letters to his wife.

Don't look shocked—the modern man always dictates his letters to his wife.

Leslie's friend, Ruth Ellington, too, is out of the city. I heard one of these women that I was telling you about say to another that she had gone to New York to meet perhaps the most eligible man that had been in Albany. She is going to marry millions, my dear.

She's another one of the people who seem to think that I am going to the vamp poor Mr. Prescott. If all these people don't stop wishing it on me, perhaps I'll have to do it. The power of thought, you know, Bee—the power of thought.

Mr. Prescott is wandering around this office like a lost soul. If we could only make a man understand how dependent he is upon his wife after he has lived with her for a few years, I think we wouldn't have as many divorces.

Well, I guess I've written you enough to make you worry about me and my ideas. Every time I write you, Bee, I wonder why you love me. Don't you stop it, dear, for all the friends you have in the world, I would be the best.

MONDAY: Letter from John Alden Prescott to Sydney Carton.

Kentucky is "Mother of Governors of Illinois"

Springfield, Ill.—If Virginia is the "Mother of Presidents" Kentucky deserves the title of "Mother of Illinois Governors" according to records at the State Historical Library here, which shows that seven Illinois governors were born in the Blue Grass state, while one other migrated from Kentucky to Illinois after having been born in another state. Four Illinois Governors were born in New York, while only three were born in Illinois.

Maryland was the birthplace of Shadrach Bond, Illinois first chief executive, and Coles, who succeeded him, came from Virginia. Edwards and Reynolds were born in Maryland and Pennsylvania, respectively, but Ewing, Duncan and Carlin who followed, were all born in Kentucky, after Carlin came from Pennsylvania, French from New Hampshire and Matteson, Bissell and Wood from New York. Kentucky then again claimed the honor and Yates, Oglesby and Palmer all claimed that state as the place of their nativity. Beveridge was born in New York, but Cullom, who followed him was a Kentuckian. Hamilton and Pifer were born in Ohio and Virginia respectively. John Peter Altgeld, who followed, was born in Germany and is the only naturalized governor the state ever had. Governor Tanner was born in Virginia. Richard Yates Jr., the son of a Kentuckian who became the Governor of Illinois in the first native born chief executive the state had. Yates was born at Jacksonville, Deeney, who was born at Edwardsville and Small, who was born at Kankakee are the only other governors who were born in Illinois. Dunne was born in Connecticut and Lowden in Minnesota.

All of the former governors of the state, with the exception of Coles, who is buried in Philadelphia, and those now living, are buried in Illinois. Five governors, Edwards, Ewing, Bissell, Cullom and Tanner are buried in Springfield. Bond is buried at Chester, Reynolds at Belleville, Duncan at Jacksonville, Carlin at Carrollton, Ford at Peoria, French at Lebanon, Matteson at Chicago, Wood at Quincy, Yates, Sr., at Jacksonville, Oglesby at Elkhart, Palmer at Carlinville, Beveridge, Hamilton and Altgeld at Chicago.

Believe Koretz, Fugitive Oil Promoter, in Germany

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Aug. 9.—Belief that Leo Koretz, escaped promoter of a Panama Oil scheme in which more than $2,000,000 was lost by investors, is in Germany, his native land, is expressed by federal authorities, who hold warrants charging him with using the mails to defraud.

Robert R. Levy, U. S. Marshal, has announced he will appeal to the state department to instruct consular officers in Germany to make a vigorous search for the promoter, who disappeared after checking out of a New York hotel last December 5. At the time he had with him at least $50,000, postal inspectors said.

Letters sent from Germany to Mrs. Koretz, here from the basis of the theory regarding his refuge, it was said. The name of the city where the letters originated was not revealed.

BOYS AND GIRLS OF COUNTY ALL INVITED TO BE GUESTS OF FAIR ASSN. ON TUESDAY

Will Be Admitted Free on Opening Day of Fair; Fine Program of Events Arranged for Their Entertainment.

Every boy and girl in Lee county is wanted at the Lee County Fair, Tuesday, as guests of the Fair Association, which has arranged a great program of sports for the youngsters, who will be admitted free on the opening day.

Frank C. Vaughan, superintendent of attractions, is desirous that the kiddies have the best time they've ever had at the fair, and toward that end he is asking the cooperation of the youngsters themselves. He wants the entries for the races, which start at 1:30, early, so all the events can be finished in time for the horse and pony races.

Four ponies, at least, are wanted for each of the pony races, which will be sandwiched between the heats of the trotting races. Mr. Vaughan says: "If the boys and girls will get busy now, won't we have fun Tuesday?"

It is up to the kids to make the day the biggest they have ever had; the Fair Association will do the limit to entertain them if they'll just get in the game.

GENERAL RULE

She was anxious to find out where her husband was, so she rang up a club to which he belonged.

"Is my husband there?" she asked the hall porter.

"No, madam."

"But I haven't even told you my name," said the astonished lady.

"That's all right, madam," said the discreet porter. "Nobody's husband is ever here."—Northern Daily Telegraph.

ROTATION HELPS

Rotation of crops has produced as much as 50 per cent increase in the yield, according to experiments conducted by Oregon Agricultural College. By rotation, humus and nitrogen are added to the soil, work is more evenly distributed, weeds, plant diseases and insects are eliminated and there is a steady output.

Ahead the battle was already joined. The Spaniard had fired one single hasty shot which had gone wide, and now one of the corsairs' grappling-irons had seized her on the larboard quarter, a withering hail of arrows was pouring down upon her decks from the Moslem cross-trees; up her sides crowded the eager Moors, evermost eager when it was a question of tackling the Spanish dogs who had driven them from their Andalusian Caliphate. Under her quarter sped the other galley to take her on the starboard side, and even as she went her archers and slingers hurled death aboard the ralleon.

"Sakr-el-Bahr thrust his way through the press in the galleon's waist."

The WELL DRESSED MAN
By BEAUNASH
Correct Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion.

The Lowly Garter

Men look down upon their garters for the excellent reason that they cannot look up to them. Yet the garter, while performing its indispensable service of upholding our socks and our dignity, need not be the ugly article that custom and tradition paint it. Garters, like suspenders and belts, have lately taken to leading a gay life and the brightest of colors have burst out in the webbings. There are two sorts of garters, each appealing to different wearers—the one with a single side support and that with a double side support, both sketched here. Some men fancy the one and some favor the other. It is an affair between you and your props. The double-support garter certainly keeps the sock tighter and smoother and its popularity is on the gain.

Similarly, some of us like wide-web garters; others choose the narrow webs. It is a matter of preference, not propriety. By the use of pads, cushions and never-let-go grips the modern garter has been made so comfortable, that one need never worry that it has fallen down on its job.

Brightly striped garters have lately gained their legs to pair off with matching suspenders. They are shown in all the modish colors—club, college, regimental and blazer—and they are sometimes sold to harmonize with belts as well. The white garter is the overwhelming favorite, though it soils most easily. Black, brown, blue, gray and other colors are in more limited request. Flat, thin clasps make garters more comfortable and unobtrusive.

Garters are in style but there is no special style in garters. Whatever suits you best in wear is best to wear. However, it is well to own several pairs, so that they will not wear out so quickly, but will always look spic-and-span.

HEARS WITH SPINE

Berne, Switzerland—The case of Eugene Butenmeister, a deaf mute who hears music through his spine is puzzling Swiss scientists.

Butenmeister attended a concert at Berne recently and found that he could "hear" and enjoy the music, not through the ears but through the spine. His spine seems to be a kind of lightning conductor, he explained. He can hear almost no other sound, except instrumental music, however.

Recent survey shows 145,000 farm families have radio sets.

Gibbons Meets Bloomfield

in London this Evening

London, Aug. 9.—(By the Associated Press)—Fight fans began arriving early at Wembley Stadium today for the 20 round bout between Tom Gibbons, American light heavyweight, and Jack Bloomfield.

The weather was favorable.

Boxing critics contributed a last word on the prospects of the rival pugilists in the morning newspapers.

The majority of the experts forecast victory for Gibbons.

One writer confidently predicted that Bloomfield would be knocked out before the sixth round.

Betting last night continued to favor Gibbons.

The NERVOUS WRECK
by E. J. Rath
©1924 - by NEA Service Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

The "Nervous Wreck" is an eccentric young easterner who is a guest of the Bar-M ranch in Montana. He lives Sally Morgan, daughter of a farmer, over a rough, uncertain all night before the impending arrival of the wreck.

HOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

You listen to me before you do anything else," she said. "You're going off half-cocked all the time. I won't have it."

"Are you suffering from the idea?" he asked.

"Maybe you can," Henry Williams, never said you couldn't. But you're going to start in now."

"What's the reason I can't start?" he asked.

"I'm not going to take up a lot of time at it. Do you want me to it until I'm blue in the face?"

Sally regarded him severely; he seemed so much like a bad little boy at times she despised him of getting anything reasonable out of him.

"You're always ready to fight me," he said.

"And there it any sense in it. Besides, what would it do us right now? Suppose you do whip him, if it makes a feel any better I'll admit that a whip him from his feet up, it suppose you do—that doesn't help to find the wheel he took off the r, does it? We'd have to stay round here anyhow until he got ready to give it back to us. You'd run a flivver on three wheels."

"I might," he said, stubbornly.

"Well, if you could, I wouldn't ride it, so that settles that. It might give you a lot of satisfaction to get to a fight with him, but it wouldn't do us any good. It would only make a lot more trouble, and we've got enough now."

"It doesn't bother me any."

"That's just it," said Sally. "It doesn't seem to make any difference to you how much trouble you stir up. But we can't afford to have any more right away—and we're not going to have it."

The Wreck regarded her with a look of intense disgust.

"Do I look like a dishwasher?" he demanded. "Do you think anybody can make me wash dishes?"

"Suppose I asked you to wash dishes?"

"I'll shake his hand irritably."

"You'd better not go to ask him."

"Yes, I have. I'm in this thing as much as you are and I have just as many rights as you have. And if it's necessary for you to wash dishes, then you ought to be glad to wash them, for the general good."

Sally puzzled him. She appeared to be abandoning herself to a situation that was preposterous and intolerable. It did not seem like Sally at all.

"What about your train?" he inquired.

"The train's got to wait for the present," she answered with a shrug.

"You mean to tell me you're going to stick around here and take orders from a trained seal? You're going to look for this outfit?"

"I've reached for a chair and seated myself opposite him."

"Do you realize, Henry Williams, that I'm trying to save you? I don't want any credit for it, because I'm going to save myself, too. Have you?"

forgotten what you did last night? Do you want to go roaming out on the road again, to be picked up and sent off to jail? Well, if you do, I don't care. We've got to hide somewhere until this thing blows over. And if you can think of any better place than this to hide, I can't."

"I only took a little gasoline," he said, impatiently.

"And you only held them up with a gun, too. And scared the life out of them, and made them sit in the road, and humiliated them, and let all the air out of their tires. And you didn't pay for the gasoline, either; so that's stealing. You'd better take it from me, you'd better take it from me, I know Montana, if I don't know much else. You can't do things like that any more."

The Wreck scowled at the floor.

"How about a bird who steals the wheel off your car? Can he do things like that?"

"No; he hasn't any right, of course. But it's done, and I'm not sure but that's also an act of Providence, as Charley McSwen says. I have a hunch that what we need right now is a hide-out, and this gives us one without hunting for it. Believed her savagely.

"I can't lick him," said Sally. "Maybe you can, Henry Williams, never said you couldn't. But you're going to start in now."

"What's the reason I can't start?" he asked.

"I'm not going to take up a lot of time at it. Do you want me to it until I'm blue in the face?"

Sally regarded him severely; he seemed so much like a bad little boy at times she despised him of getting anything reasonable out of him.

"You're always ready to fight me," he said.

"And there it any sense in it. Besides, what would it do us right now? Suppose you do whip him, if it makes a feel any better I'll admit that a whip him from his feet up, it suppose you do—that doesn't help to find the wheel he took off the r, does it? We'd have to stay round here anyhow until he got ready to give it back to us. You'd run a flivver on three wheels."

Legion to Build Fine Marker for First Dead

Evansville, Indiana—As the outgrowth of a plan sponsored by The American Legion to erect a monument over the grave of James Bethel Gresham, the first American to be killed in the World War, who is buried here, Evansville may be the site of an international shrine dedicated to the memory of soldiers who gave their lives in the World War.

The plan calls for the city's largest park as a shrine. In the center of the park a monument costing $1,000,000 would be erected to Gresham, and surrounding it, each state in the union would be invited to erect a smaller memorial bearing the name of the first hero of the state to die in the World War. Each nation allied with America would also be invited to erect a monument to its fallen.

The cost of arms of the state or nation they represent would be carried on the smaller monuments in addition to the names of the first to make the supreme sacrifice. The shrine would also be dedicated as a National park and camping ground with the invited world to visit and pay homage there.

The Richardson Multicrome Roof in opal shown on the Colonial House designed for House Beautiful Magazine by Henry Atherton Frost and Eleanor Raymond of Cambridge, Massachusetts

Newly created by Richardson —an opal roof of exclusive beauty

An opal roof of a beauty hitherto unknown has now been created by Richardson. It is built from shingles on which are blended the most beautiful Richardson colors—weathered brown and jade green. Applied to the roof, they give a delicately mottled coloring like the play of light on a rippled mountain lake.

The Richardson Multicrome Roof is also laid in other pleasing color effects. The rare weathered brown, for example, an exclusive Richardson color, has proved especially popular when applied in combination with other Richardson shingles of jade green, tile red or black pearl. In fact, there is a Multicrome Roof to please every taste.

The new colors, opal and weathered brown, are used only on the Richardson Super-Giant Shingle—famous for its beauty and endurance. Its inner materials, Richardson felt and Viskalt, make it last unusually long. And Richardson Super-Giants are equally good for new or over-the-old-roof jobs.

Come in and see this shingle—and the other Richardson roofing products. Or, if you prefer, telephone and we will come to you.
